

Punch List on Bluebeam® Beam me Up!

PUNCHLIST DEVELOPMENT & COMPLETION TIME REDUCED BY 50%

A $35 million dollar job used to require many time-consuming steps to expedite a punchlist, but not any longer! Bluebeam® uses real time development for execution of punchlist completion, omitting previous extraneous steps and cutting time, easily, in half. The communication process is immediate for all parties involved, the accuracy of information is greatly improved and everyone's job is made easier, but the bonus is that...the client is able to move into their new space a lot sooner.

Riley hosts the Bluebeam software and the rest of the project team including the Client, Architects, Engineers, and Subcontractors have free access through Bluebeam Vu®. On the day of punchlist development, Riley distributes iPads to the Architect/Engineer team and, before they leave, the information is already distributed and put into action. Punchlist items aren't just described in words, references through photos and blueprints are placed within the document. These references make drilldown into further detail possible which drives accuracy up, condenses the time, and makes communication back and forth between all parties simplified with just the touch of a mobile device, tablet or computer.
