RILEY CONSTRUCTION TAPPED TO LEAD SURGERY, PARKING ADDITIONS AT MIDWESTERN REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER

LAKE BLUFF, Ill. – (August 2, 2010) – Riley Construction was recently selected to provide preconstruction and construction management services for the three-story, 23,000-square-foot new surgical addition and remodel for the Cancer Treatment Centers of America (CTCA) at Midwestern Regional Medical Center (MRMC) in Zion, Ill.

In this new facility, primary surgical function is located on the second floor, which features four operating rooms (convertible to five) and a sterile core. It also includes a Post Anesthesia Care Unit (four recovery bays and one isolation room), Same Day Surgery (seven recovery rooms and one patient holding room), a Central Sterile Processing Department, staff support (male and female locker rooms), administrative support (offices and a conference room), and public/family support (family waiting and consult rooms). The first floor will be shell space for future development and the third floor will be a mechanical penthouse. HDR Architects' Chicago office is leading the design with the project slated for completion in fall 2011.

Riley Construction is also delivering a new five-level, 500-space parking structure on the MRMC campus. The project will enhance campus parking capacity while freeing up land for future development. The first phase, which establishes the foundations and adds a service lot, is underway with an anticipated completion this October.

Located in a restorative, rural setting Cancer Treatment Centers of America at Midwestern Regional Medical Center is a premier provider of cancer care. Its experts have been providing an unprecedented level of care for more than two decades and have more than doubled in size since its inception. The hospital expands every year as the latest medical innovations are acquired and more members join its team.

One of the largest construction management and general construction firms in southeastern Wisconsin, averaging more than $107 million in annual volume, Riley Construction is headquartered in Kenosha, Wis., with permanent offices located in Milwaukee and Lake Bluff, Ill. As one of the leading construction services firms in the region, Riley Construction was recently ranked among the top Midwest companies by Midwest Construction magazine, including no. 18 in Healthcare/Hospital construction in 2010. Riley Construction provides construction management, preconstruction, design/build and general contracting services across a wide range of markets, including health care, municipal, commercial, industrial, public/recreation and education. Projects include new, expansion, renovation and restoration projects for a variety of building types and uses.
